AVA's Recommendation:

You can find a variety of 35-foot catamarans available for charter in Greece, either bareboat or with a skipper, through multiple reputable platforms. Rental prices generally start at around $600 per day or 1,300 euros per week, with options ranging from basic to luxury catamarans. These catamarans can typically accommodate groups and are ideal for exploring islands such as the Cyclades or the Ionian Sea. Most charter companies also offer flexible booking options and may include extras like crew, sports equipment, or provisions. You can easily filter for 35-foot models on leading charter websites and book directly online.
